We carry the island within us

By Corlis McGee

There is a wonderful tagline that has been used through the years here at ENC: The Spirit Makes the Difference. It's the title of Dr. James Cameron's book about ENC and indeed, it is God's Spirit at work within us that enables us to pursue excellence in everything we do.

As I was leaving the sanctuary of the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene this past August after a covenant service with the new students on move-in day, I met one of the students and her parents. Jamica Love, Associate Dean of Students, was with them as I walked that way and she said to me, "We've got parents who want to stay, too." They undoubtedly were thinking about how much they would miss their daughter, but they were also joking about staying because they had had a wonderful day and liked what they saw. The father said to me, "I felt the Spirit here today." We both knew that he meant God's Spirit at work here among us. He had sensed, without knowing the tagline, that with all of our human frailties, the Spirit makes a difference at ENC.

As we continue with the theme of ENC being an island, we realize that the Spirit is not only restricted to the physical island of ENC, but it travels with each of us as we go out and work in the world. Many students often joke of being nervous to leave the "bubble" of ENC. And while this is a testament to the sense of community that has been created here, it's not quite true. The "bubble," the Spirit, the island, is within us.

Take the fact that I encountered this Spirit 30 years before I ever set foot on the ENC campus.

In Nashville, when I was a young faculty member at Trevecca Nazarene College, it was Dr. Ron Gray, one of my faculty mentors. Ron, his wife Evelyn (Brown, 48), and their daughter each touched my life in meaningful ways during those formative years. In Kansas City, it was Chuck (58) and Doris (Biggs, 57) Gailey, Dr. Gordon Wetmore (55), and the heritage that Drs. Mann and Nease had left in the Commissioner of Education's office at the international headquarters of the Church of the Nazarene. Even in Germany at European Nazarene College, the founding rector had been John B. Nielson (41). While I was there I worked with several ENC alums, including his son, John (65), and his daughter-in-law, Janice (67), as well as Merritt Mann (59) and his son Doug (93). And the stories and the list of individuals and the influence of ENC goes on and on in my own life.

This past October was a perfect time for me to reflect on this contact I have had with ENC, because that island, that Spirit, that bubble that stretches around the world comes back to our little corner of Quincy, MA. During homecoming weekend, we celebrated the ENC experience that continues – God's story that has been written in the lives of individuals for over a century. It repeats itself over and over again throughout our student body and alums.

ENC exists because its founders believed that Christ makes a difference in our lives and brings hope to a world that sees very little hope. Over 100 years later, our vision and hope are the same. If this hope is going to be taken to inner cities, government offices, community organizations, public school classrooms, research labs, dentists' or physicians' offices, pulpits and mission fields, or corporate offices, it will be through individuals with that Spirit in them. It will be through those who have discovered that there is no conflict between the best in education and the best in Christian faith, and that quality academic preparation in a field of study is just as much an act of stewardship as is personal spiritual growth and spiritual disciplines.

As we enter 2008, may you find yourself immersed in the Spirit. It truly does make all the difference.

I pray that out of his glorious riches he may strengthen you with power through his Spirit in your inner being, so that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith. And I pray that you, being rooted and established in love, may have power, together with all the saints, to grasp how wide and long and high and deep is the love of Christ.

In Memory

Emma Elizabeth "Betty" (Zimmerman, 43) Davis passed away on October 11. Services were held on October 14 at Shawnee Church of the Nazarene in Shawnee, KS. Betty and her husband, Don (51), a retired pastor of the Melrose Church of the Nazarene, were retired missionaries to Argentina. She is survived by her three children: Steven, Garth, and Martha.

Ken Mills (66), chairman of ENC's Board of Trustees and District Superintendent of the Mid-Atlantic District, was surprised by his district on TEAM day in honor of his 10-year anniversary as D.S. The district raised about $9,000 to endow an ENC scholarship in the name of Ken's father, Harold, who was the founding pastor of Richmond Southside, the largest church in the Eastern region. Sadly, Harold passed away about a month after the generous donation was made. However, Ken said he was pleased that his father lived to see the gift.

Rachel (Grabke, 89) Hallenbeck, John Barr (75) and Evelyn (Eshleman, 64) Kern gathered for a photo in Paris on September 4. ### Dr. A. Leslie Parrott, Ph.D.

Dr. A. Leslie Parrott, Ph.D., former president of Eastern Nazarene College and Olivet Nazarene University, passed away peacefully at age 85 on Sunday, September 23, in Phoenix, Arizona, following a brief illness.

As president of ENC, Parrott reduced the campus mortgage, completed Lahue Physical Education Center, and set records with freshman enrollment by personally connecting with churches. He was also a popular evangelist, minister, and writer. In fact, Rick Warren cited Parrott's book Building Today's Church as instrumental in shaping his philosophy of ministry.

In honor of the personal connection Parrott had with ENC, here is an excerpt from his president's message in the 1973 The Nautilus yearbook. His words still ring true today.

"In three years I've come to confirm my earliest impression, ENC is people. It's lots of kinds of people living in a community of high ideals and noble purposes, but people. Moods rise and fall. Ideals and purposes are tested and retested. The full gamut of emotions is put on display. Class after class after class after class punctuated with chapel after chapel, prayer after prayer, book after book, paper after paper, meal times, private talks, trips home, big events, letters, and even aimless doodling are all involved in the process of living and learning and loving – people with people."

NEWS BRIEFS • Winter 2007

Stephen Prothero, chair of the department of religion at Boston University, gave a presentation titled “Religious Literacy in the United States” last Thursday at Eastern Nazarene College. A historian of American religions, Prothero has written five books. His newest is the New York Times bestseller Religious Literacy: What Every American Needs to Know—and Doesn’t (Harp-erOne, 2007), which was also nominated for a 2007 Quill Book Award. His first, The White Buddhist: The Asian Odyssey of Henry Steel Olcott (Indian University Press, 1996), won the Best First Book Award of the American Academy of Religion in 1997. American Jesus: How the Son of God Became a National Icon (Farrar, Straus & Giroux, 2003) was named one of the top religion books for 2003 by Publishers Weekly.

National spokesperson against sexual assault Nicole Brad-Dock Bromley (02) spoke during chapel services in October. Bromley told her story of triumphing over the effects of sexual abuse she experienced at a young age, and gave resources for others coping with the same issues. “It is important for me to fulfill the calling God has on my life: to speak out and help other survivors find their voice, to reveal the truth about sexual abuse, and to give hope that others too can move from silence to healing,” said Bromley, who has created the organization OneVOICE Enterprises, which works to help victims. She released the book Hush: Moving from Silence to Healing After Childhood Sexual Abuse this past June. “Nicole’s testimony reinforces our commitment to creating an open community dedicated to supporting one another,” said Corlis McGee, president of ENC. “Sadly, Nicole will not be the last person to walk onto campus who has experienced this horrendous trauma. We want students to know we are here to help them.”

Over alumni weekend Dr. Richard J. Simons (77) presented “The Crisis in Medical School Education: Challenges and Opportunities for Success” at the chemistry department’s annual lecture. He spoke of his experiences teaching medical students, but also of the need for doctors to spend more time with their patients. Simons is Professor of Medicine at the Pennsylvania State University Hershey Medical Center College of Medicine and Vice-Dean of the Medical School.

Cindy Tozzi (98), head field hockey and softball coach at Notre Dame Academy in Hingham, MA, was inducted to the New Agenda: Northeast Hall of Fame at their “35 years of Title IX” ceremony on November 4 at the Woodland Golf Club in Newton, MA. Founders of New Agenda: Northeast, Mary Pratt and Mary Lydon, as well as Athletic Director Donna Brickley (78), were on hand to celebrate.

Faculty/Staff News

New Director of Spiritual Development/Chaplain • During Homecoming weekend, President Corlis McGee announced that the wait for a chaplain was over. Beginning in January 2008, Corey MacPherson, pastor of the North Shore Church of the Nazarene, will become ENC’s new Director of Spiritual Life/Chaplain. “I am excited to now join those within the ENC community in the midst of their spiritual journeys with the hope that I, too, can be a guide in the same way that students, faculty, and staff were to me,” said MacPherson, who graduated from ENC with a bachelor’s degree in business administration in 1996. MacPherson also earned a master’s degree in divinity in 2000 from Nazarene Theological Seminary. That same year, he and his wife Edie planted a church in Setauket, NY, which he has pastored for the past seven years. He is currently nearing completion of doctoral work at Asbury Theological Seminary.

New Assistant Director of Career Services • Krista Bogertman has been hired as the Assistant Director of Career Services. “I am excited about helping students and alumni discover their unique callings, navigate the graduate school and job markets, prepare for excellence in their fields of interest, and network with professionals in the community,” she said. Bogertman earned a bachelor’s degree in social work from Calvin College and a master of social work degree from Temple University in Pennsylvania. Bogertman will be responsible for providing career counseling and career information to students and alumni, assisting with employer relations, developing job prospects, and career event programming.

Professor Randall Stephens has been selected to participate in the 2007-2009 Young Scholars in American Religion (YSAR) program hosted by Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis and supported by the Lilly Endowment. Stephens will join nine other early career scholars and two mentors for a series of seminars to be held in Indianapolis. The YSAR program helps religion scholars improve teaching and research skills while encouraging professional communities. <http://www.iupui.edu/~raac/>

Chaucer comes to ENC with a story of religious tolerance

World premiere of ENC music professor’s opera, The Prioress’s Tale

By Cara Pasik (08)

Chaucer may have written The Prioress’s Tale more than 600 years ago, but, sadly, a call for religious tolerance is needed just as desperately today. Thus music professor Delvyn Case and writer Christopher Hood have adapted the classic into an opera that aims to present a modern account of how good can come out of such evil.

“We’re transforming the tale to fit the context of our time. We’ve found in it a story about the consequences of religious intolerance, and the magic in the tale – a dead child singing – makes it a rich and provocative text,” said Hood, who wrote the lyrics.

Based on religious misunderstanding, Chaucer’s piece follows the story of a Catholic boy who is brutally murdered by a group of Jewish people for singing to the Virgin Mary. When his song continues to haunt the town after his death, the town rises up to silence his persistent cries to Mary. Chaucer’s could easily be interpreted as a divisive story – a cut and dry account of right and wrong. But Case and Hood saw something more redeeming in it.

The “primary message is that peace, reconciliation, and forgiveness are possible when each of us validates our common humanity with others,” said Case. These themes span the centuries.

“By humanizing characters who in Chaucer’s tale are mere stereotypes, we hope to encourage the audience to consider the cost of bias and misunderstanding on the personal level,” he added.

The lesson of the work will come through not only in the text, but also through Case’s composing. Of utmost musical importance to Case is the boy’s chant, an emanating presence of guilt for the townspeople. The creators feel this particularly shows the power of music to unite as well as divide those within different communities.

“We are confident that our opera communicates a deep respect for the victims of religious violence while also dramatically illustrating the terrible consequences of bigotry and hatred,” said Case. Tackling a subject as sensitive as religious violence can be treading on uneasy ground. In preparation, Case and Hood sought extensive feedback from individuals within the Jewish community as well as lay people and theologians in order to understand the expression of the project. An interfaith dialogue will follow the premiere performance.

“Our story is a tragic parable in which the reality of violence serves an overall message about the power of forgiveness and peace,” said Case.

The Prioress’s Tale: A Chamber Opera in One Act will premiere at Eastern Nazarene College on January 17, 2008, and will also be performed on January 19. For more information: www.delvyncase.com or call Case at 617-745-3614.

HOMECOMING 2007

Homecoming means something different to everyone.

For alumni, it's a chance to come back and connect with people they haven't seen since graduation and reminisce about activities long ago.

For students, it's the time to perform in musicals, cheer for their friends at coronation and on the field, and hawk their wares at the street fair.

This year, the Celebration Dinner brought those diverse aims together: Alumni and students rejoiced in the ENC experience, even if it is a little different for everyone.

Here's a collection of photos and a word from Russell Long, head of the ENC Alumni Association Council, that show students and alumni alike will be talking about this homecoming at homecomings to come.

Celebrate the Experience

Paul Haynes (08)

"I am just a man who loves Jesus," said Mike Vasquez (80), founder of Children of the Shepherd in Hollywood, Calif., when addressing students, faculty, and alumni during homecoming chapel on Oct. 19. Vasquez received an alumni award for his work with the homeless.

The Power of Our Stories

By Russell Long (71)

What began as a renewed vision of what homecoming could become, became a reality when nearly 500 gathered at the Granite Links Golf Club at Quarry Hills in Quincy for the first of its kind: a gathering of alumni and friends desiring to celebrate the ENC experience.

The seed that gave birth to this event was planted by Dick Prichard (67), a member of the ENC Alumni Association Council, who wanted to tell our story in a fresh way and showcase the best of ENC. This was a collaborative effort in which the ENC Foundation Board members and Peter and Bill O'Connell, owners of Granite Links, underwrote the cost of the dinner. The O'Connells' story intersects with that of ENC – their mother, Phelma S. O'Connell, was an alumna; in fact, the O'Connell Auditorium in cove is named for her. This celebration was a first-class event, from the hors d'oeuvres served in the lobby as guests arrived, to "Java and Jazz" hosted in the after-dinner-dessert tent.

At the tables all kinds of stories were being shared. The pictures on the large screens caught our attention from time to time as we were reminded of some of the crazy things we did while we were students. We entered into an evening in which we lived somewhat vicariously through the students who reminded us of the rich and excellent musical traditions of the college. As we looked into the young faces of the A cappella Choir and the Gospel Choir, we were reminded that there has been a distinct spirit that has permeated the ENC story over the years.

We were inspired by interviews of alumni from a wide range of ages and backgrounds who are making a difference in the world. They serve as representatives of our graduates who have been successful at integrating their faith in Christ with their professions. They are tangible evidence that the mission of the college has been fulfilled and is providing influence wherever one of our graduates is present.

Because the ENC experience was such a significant time in many of our lives, guests were challenged by Dr. Corlis McGee to invest in the next generation of leaders. Our mission over the years has not changed. This was an evening to be reminded of that fact and to once again give thanks to God for His plan that brought each of us to ENC for an experience that was transformational for so many.

Your gift – large or small – counts!
 Foundations considering grant proposals often ask what percentage of alumni/ae give to the ENC Fund. Even the smallest gift increases ENC's percentage and may assist the college in obtaining a significant grant.

For information on giving to the ENC fund call 1-800-RING ENC.

The class of 1957 presented President McGee with a check for more than $40,000, which they raised for their class scholarship. They've already pledged to raise another $40,000!

Dr. McGee posed with a student who received a recent scholarship. Recipients were given a certificate and wrote thank you notes to donors.

Nease Library to Host National Conference

Nease Library is hosting the Association of Christian Librarians (ACL) Annual Conference June 9-12, 2008. The conference is expected to attract more than 200 librarians from Christian colleges and universities across the United States and Canada. There will be workshops, speakers, and a chance to connect with other professionals. It would be great to see some of ENC's alumni who are current or former librarians at the conference. The ACL is also offering a 50 percent discount off registration to students. You do not have to be a member of ACL to attend. Contact Nease Library at 617-745-3850, or visit the ACL Conference website at <http://www.acl.org/conference.cfm> for more information.

The Eastern Region Clergy Prayer Summit

April 28-30, 2008 • Schroon Lake, NY

www.nazarenepastor.org

Representatives from ENC will be attending.

ENC Fund Update

The goal of the ENC Fund for this academic year is to receive a total of $215,000. A total of $46,414 has been donated through October of our current fiscal year (July 1, 2007 to June 30, 2008). July 1, 2006 – Oct. 31, 2006, Total Received: $26,541
July 1, 2007 – Oct. 31, 2007, Total Received $46,414

We're up $20,000 from this time last year!

We established a goal of $215,000 for the ENC Fund for the 2008 fiscal year. This is an increase of $75,000 from what was given last year. To date, the cabinet, foundation board and board of trustees have committed over $53,000 of the $75,000 increase! We are now challenging you – alumni and friends – to join us in surpassing our goal.

Every donation makes a differENCe!

Thanks to Churches for Their Generosity

Churches are off to another great start this academic year.

Thank you for continuing to give!

Pillars of Excellence

Meet the King and Queen of the 2007 Homecoming Court

Queen • Katelyn Crouse (08)

Hometown • Brockton, MA

Major • Social Work

King • Jesse Mix (08)

Hometown • North East, PA

Major • Biology/Pre-Med

Q: So you're king and queen. Do you feel more important now?

Jesse Mix: I don't feel more important; I'm terrified! I've resorted to skulking around campus in disguise, though I suspect the personal bodyguard keeps giving me away. [laughs]

Katelyn Crouse: I wish! I wouldn't say I feel more "important," but I definitely feel honored to be chosen by my fellow students! It is very exciting!

Q: Have you contemplated wearing your crown around campus and telling people to do things?

JM: Au contraire, I've given it away and sworn off any association between that crown and myself.

KC: Not really. I think that it enjoys its nice little spot on top of my desk in my room!

Q: What has been one of your favorite experiences here at ENC?

JM: With the exception of the cold weather, I've really had an all-around grand time at ENC. The chance to play four years of college soccer has been pretty groovy. But for the most part, my favorites aren't necessarily the experiences, but all the quality people with whom I've been able to share community.

KC: There are so many amazing things I have experienced over my years at ENC; it is so hard to choose one particular experience. I guess I would have to say that one of my best experiences was being able to participate in the Summer Ministry program here at school. I traveled for two summers, and they were probably two of those most defining summers of my life. I was able to travel, participate in ministry, recruit, meet new people, help others, as well as grow in my faith and make it my own. It was truly a life-changing experience.

Q: What do you plan on doing after graduation?

JM: Right now I'm in a waiting place, waiting for a medical school to give me the privilege to pay them lots of American dollars for the next four years. If one of them lets me, then maybe someday I'll be a doctor and practice in some country closer to the equator.

KC: I wish I knew! I am really praying for the Lord's direction right now as to what He wants me to do. But I am planning on getting a job within the field of social work for a year or so, then pursue my MSW.

Q: You have to come back and hand over that title of king and queen next year. Aside from that, do you think that you'll always be connected to ENC? How?

JM: The growth, relationships, and memories I've shared during my time here will always have ENC in them.

KC: I definitely think that I will be connected to ENC forever. Both of my parents attended ENC, so it has always played a huge part in my life. As the senior class president it is part of my job to follow up with classmates and be involved with raising funds for our class scholarship throughout the years. So ENC will definitely be seeing a lot of me in the future!

Eastern Nazarene College has spent much of 2007 focusing on the importance of how our individual and collective stories have shaped us into a worldwide community.

We pause at this time of year to focus on the ancient account from which our story began – with a babe in Bethlehem’s manger.

Wherever you find yourself this holiday season, take a moment to reflect on how the account of the Christ Child has shaped your story.

The faculty, staff, students, and administration of Eastern Nazarene College wish you the happiest of holiday seasons.
